THE PRESIDENT'S JUSTIFICATION OF THE ARREST OF CLEMENT L. VALLANDIGHAM.—It will be remembered that recently a large meeting was held in Albany, at which resolutions were passed denouncing the arrest and trial of the Prince of Copperheads. These were forwarded to the President, who has just replied thereto. We publish the following extract, which contains the substance of the argument, and seems to us fully to justify the action of Gen. Burnsides and of the Government. He says: "the meeting indicates the opinion that military arrests may be constitutional in localities where the rebellion actually exists; but that such arrests are unconstitutional in localities where the rebellion or insurrection does not actually exist. They insist that such arrests shall not be made outside the lines of necessary military occupation and the scenes of the insurrection. Inasmuch, however, as the Constitution itself makes no such distinction, I am unable to believe there is any such constitutional restriction. I concede that the class of arrests complained of can be constitutional only when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require them, and I insist that in such cases they are constitutional. However, the public safety does require them, as well in places to which they may prevent the rebellion extending as in those where it may be already prevailing, as well where they may restrain mischievous interference with the raising and supplying of armies to suppress the rebellion, as where the rebellion may actually be; as well where they restrain the enticing men out of the army as where they could prevent mutiny in the army; equally constitutional in all places where they will conduce to the public safety, as against the dangers of rebellion or invasion. Take the particular case mentioned by the meeting. It is asserted in substance that Vallandigham was by a military commander seized and tried for no other reason than words addressed to a public meeting, in criticism of the Administration and in condemnation of the military orders of the General. Now if there be no mistake about this, if this assertion is the truth and the whole truth—if there was no other reason for the arrest, then I consider that the arrest was wrong; but the arrest, as I understand, was made for a very different reason. Vallandigham avowed his hostility to the war on the part of the Union and his arrest was made because he was laboring with some effect to prevent the raising of troops to encourage desertion from the army and to leave the rebellion without an adequate military force to suppress it. He was not arrested because he was damaging the political prospects of the Administration or the personal interests of the commanding General, but because he was damaging the army upon the existence and vigor of which the life of the nation depends. He was warring upon the military, and this gave the military constitutional jurisdiction to lay hands upon him. If Vallandigham was not damaging the military power of the country, then his arrest was made on a mistake of fact, which I would be glad to correct on reasonable satisfactory evidence. I understand the meeting whose resolutions I am considering, to be in favor of suppressing the rebellion by military force of arms. Long experience has shown that armies cannot be maintained unless desertion shall be punished. The severe penalty of death the case requires, and the law and the Constitution sanctions this punishment. Must I shoot a simple-minded soldier boy who deserts, while I must not touch a hair of a wily agitator who induces him to desert? This is none the less injurious when effected by getting a father, or brother, or friend into a public meeting and there working upon his feelings till he is persuaded to write to the soldier boy that he is fighting in a bad cause for a wicked Administration of a contemptible Government too weak to arrest and punish him if he shall desert. I think that in such case to silence the agitator and save the boy, is not only constitutional, but withal a great mercy."

After reviewing the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus by General Jackson, the President says: "And yet let me say that in my own discretion I do not know whether I would have ordered the arrest of Vallandigham, yet while I cannot shift the responsibility from myself I hold that, as a general rule, the Commander in the field is the better judge of the necessity in any particular case. Of course I must practice a general directory and revisory power in the matter."

AN EXCELLENT APPOINTMENT.—Alfred Pleasanton, well known to many of our citizens while stationed at Vancouver for several years as one of the staff of General Harney, and now well known to the whole land as the splendid cavalry officer who has won repeated victories over the rebel Gen. Stuart, has been made a Major General and placed at the head of the whole cavalry force of the United States.

A correspondent of an Eastern paper complains that the poles which support the telegraph wires are in general too few and far between, so that in some instances the wires "sag down nearly to the ground." Does that amiable correspondent imagine that any given number of poles could prevent the telegraph wires from lying by the way.

ANOTHER OLD REBEL RAMPANT.—John B. Weller, who has been Governor and U. S. Senator from California, but has [illegible] in deserved obscurity for two years past, broke out and enlightened his neighbors with his view of the war, closing a most fanatical secession harangue, with the following fustian:

"My fellow citizens, for the expression of these sentiments I may be seized by a military guard, as others have been, dragged away from my wife and children and incarcerated in prison. Well, if indeed I have outlived the liberties of the people it is a matter of very little importance where an old National Democrat spends his few remaining years. And if, in the Providence of God, it should be my destiny to terminate my days in a dungeon, I ask kind friends (for I trust I will leave some behind) to raise a simple slab to my memory, and inscribe these words upon it:

'Here lies the Body of an American who Forfeited his Liberty and Died in Prison for refusing to aid in Slaughtering Nine Million Men, Women and Children of his blood, in order to give Freedom to four millions of the African race.'"

The S. F. Morning Call very properly adds: "As to that epitaphic slab, we would suggest that the monument should be prepared at once and reared at every place where J. B. speaks, with the following inscription: 'Here lies one Weller.'"

DEMOCRACY IN INDIANA.—A convention was lately held in this State, so long owned by Bright and his partners, and its proceedings very fairly illustrate the true position of the Democratic party, so far as we understand it.

There is nothing in the whole range of national affairs that they did not denounce, except the rebels and the Democratic party. The leaders who figured in the meeting, while they talked about the Union and the Constitution, did not have a word to say against the rebels who, in their efforts to destroy the Union and overthrow the Constitution, are deluging the country with the blood of our citizens; while for the National Government they had nothing but words indicating the bitterest hatred. No loyal man who reads the proceedings will be at any loss to determine where the sympathies of the leaders of the so-called Democratic party are, neither can any one fail to discover that the talk about military despotism and the violation of the Constitution, are mere words intended to cover the deep sympathy which such men as Voorhees and Hendricks entertain for the rebels who are murdering our soldiers and seeking to destroy the nation. To make this fact as plain as the sun at noon day, it is only necessary to refer to the fruits of the teachings of these local traitors. Their ignorant or wicked followers have for some time been conspiring to break down the government. In various instances they have organized and armed, and thus resisted the authority of the government in arresting deserters. At Indianapolis this same spirit was manifested. The excursionists who attended the convention on leaving in the cars, fired into the Soldiers' Home and private residences. While in the city they were restrained by fear; but as soon as they got under way behind the locomotives they let loose their evil passions, supposing that they could not be overtaken. But the cars were stopped, 1500 revolvers were taken from one train, and several arrests were made.

WHAT THE SLAVE POWER EXPECTS TO DO.—The Southern Literary Messenger, published at Richmond, the leading political and literary journal of the South, known to speak the sentiments of the chief conspirators in the rebellion, in its number of February, thus boldly proclaims their intentions in the establishment of a new government, and we particularly commend its remarks to the consideration of the "mud sills" and "foreigners."

"The South is now engaged in a death struggle with a radical democracy, the willing instrument of consolidation in the hands of an Abolition oligarchy. That benign institution of Slavery, which it is now the pride and glory of the South to ascribe to Divinity, and which war has proven to be next to the devoted patriotism and undaunted resolution of her sons—the great element of power in the Confederacy—will prove, in preventing a too heavy influx from foreign shores of that class of population devoted to menial pursuits, another bulwark against the encroachments of those tendencies to democracy, which have been the Pandora's box of disintegration and ruin to all republics. Confederate in form may our Government be, Confederate in fact, Republican in name, let it not be democratic in reality. First of all, we should ever keep before us, as the essential feature in the image of perfect government, the State's right theory. That rigidly adhered to, will avert the danger of centralization of power. Secondly, let us seek at once to eradicate every vestige of radical democracy, every feature to make ours a popular government—making it subject only to the intelligent and virtuous and those who are interested in its successful administration."

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT FLORENCE.—From the Lewiston Age we learn that while the citizens of Florence were engaged in firing a salute on the Fourth, Mr. Walling was killed, and a Mr. Wm. Bernard, of California, was severely wounded, by the premature discharge of the gun. Mr. W. was a son of J. B. Walling, of Amity, and a nephew of A. G. Walling, of Portland.

SAD OCCURRENCE.—The Golden Age of the 8th, says a son of Dr. Newell, at the Agency, was drowned in the mill race at that place, on Sunday last. He was a bright and promising child of two summers, and his loss will be severely felt by his parents. We sympathize with them in their bereavement.

ACCIDENT.—Two men were seriously injured at Vancouver on Saturday evening while firing the salute in honor of the victories in the East. One lost his arm and the other his thumb.

THE ELECTION.—When the Hunt passed Vancouver the vote was about a tie between Rayner and Cole. As the mode of voting is by ballot, the exact figures could not be obtained.

VALLANDIGHAM OUT OF DIXIE.—The Bermuda Gazette of June 2d, says: Vallandigham arrived here on the steamer Lady Davis from Wilmington on Saturday last, en route for Canada, there to await coming events.

SANITARY FUND.—Received from Mrs. [illegible] Ainsworth, Treasurer of Portland Ladies' Society, $130 75, W. D. Hare, Hillsboro, $5. Total, 135 75. A. HOLBROOK.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN.

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to July 8th.

REBEL GEN. EWELL DEAD

HARRISBURG, July [illegible].—Gen. Couch has received [illegible] Lee would occupy and hold Maryland Heights until his army could cross the Potomac.

BALTIMORE, July 7.—Gen. Ewell died today, two miles from Hagerstown, from wounds received at Gettysburg.

FREDERICK, Md., July 7.—The iron bridge is [illegible] recently destroyed, it will be impracticable for the retreating rebels to cross it. Portions of the rebel army passed through South Mountain. The [illegible] all destroyed [illegible] after the rebels [illegible]. The enemy is reported to have built a bridge across the Potomac at [illegible] Maryport. If so, their main force may escape.

NEW YORK, July 7.—A special dispatch to the Times from Gettysburg gives the report from the front, cheering. Our forces are [illegible] upon the enemy. Important results are expected to-night. Gregg reports the rebels going to Greencastle instead of Chambersburg. The rebels [illegible] their wounded along the line of retreat, officers as well as privates.

Yesterday's Baltimore [illegible] every available man in Baltimore and Washington was being hurried to [illegible] to intercept Lee's flying and demoralized troops. Another battle is looked for to-day, which will be final, as Meade's forces have been reinforced, and he now has more than double [illegible] enemy.

BALTIMORE, July 7th.—[illegible] says Lee will [illegible] the river and try to [illegible] guerrilla [illegible] they [illegible] this side of the line. Comparing various estimates, we think the prisoners will reach from [illegible]000 to 10 000 [illegible] this number should be added stragglers, wounded and deserters, which it is reported are already being gathered up by thousands. The rebel loss in killed and wounded will not probably fall below 12 000 or 13,000, which will swell the total number to the sum of 23 000 or [illegible] men Lee brought over the Potomac. Of prisoners [illegible] except a few officers. Lee carried off [illegible] of our men and paroled them, but the parole was inefficient because under terms of the cartel. Meade refused to agree to it. Lee then sent them to Couch, who [illegible] paroles.

HARRISBURG, July 7.—Rebel army is now concentrated near Williamsport. Reports state that heavy artillery firing has been heard. Whether skirmishing to feel their position, or a serious engagement is not known. The final and decisive battle of the campaign will no doubt take place there.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The Herald's dispatch of last night says rebel gunboat Dragon came down James river with flag of truce, having on board Vice President Stevens and Commissioner Ould. They represented that they had important letters from Davis to Lincoln, and requested permission to proceed to Washington in the Dragon to present them in person. Admiral Lee having no authority to do this telegraphed to Washington. A special Cabinet meeting was called this morning to consider the matter. No decision was arrived at, and the Cabinet adjourned till to-morrow. Lee was instructed to find out the object of their mission if possible, meanwhile the tug turned around and steamed up the river. The President has decided that he cannot grant them an interview.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Messages were received here to-day from Stanton confirming the capture of Vicksburg. A number of private dispatches to that effect have been received.

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE.—At the great Union meeting held in Chicago lately, a most thrilling and impressive scene occurred. William Kellogg, of Peoria, was addressing the vast crowd with his accustomed eloquence in behalf of supporting the Government. Suddenly pausing, he exclaimed:

"Would that I could lift to Heaven the hands of those thousands which I see before me, and have an oath registered there, that never, never, while a rebel lives or a foot of treasonable soil is to be found, shall this war cease; and that it shall be prosecuted with all the vigor and with all the terrible means at our disposal, until the entire Union shall be restored."

"Administer it!" "Administer it!"—shouted scores of voices. "Administer it!"—swelled up in the air, as thousands took up the cry. "Then lift up your hands," said Judge Kellogg, and, bending down he ran his eye over the vast crowd. "I can see no Copperheads," he shouted; "those uplifted hands are those of loyal freemen—patriots all." And amidst the most impressive silence he administered the oath, the substance of which is given above, and thousands of voices mingled in one mighty response—"We swear it."

GEN. JAMES H. LANE was, not long ago, one of the most submissive of the Pro-slavery Democracy—voting for the Nebraska Bill and generally yielding with willing neck to the yoke of his Southern taskmasters. He talks now [illegible] though he had met [illegible] In a speech made recently by him [illegible] Union meeting in Ohio we find the following. He was speaking of the timidity of modern Democrats, and said:

"Oh! but they are afraid that slavery will be damaged! Yes they are extremely sensitive on that point. How did you get such a horror of Abolitionism? You have for many years been made to denounce Abolitionism by the slaveholders. I have been one of those pro-slavery believers in the divinity of the peculiar institution myself. [I tell your experience.] I was one of the most zealous workers in the old Democratic party, and I should probably be to-day crying let it alone, and insisting that it is divine, had not the slaveholders rebelled. If they had looked back to the humble cot where I was born, you could discover a cradle with your humble speaker in one end and another infant in the other end, not so much white as I am. [Laughter.] Thus was I brought up to believe it a divine institution! But now I believe it a fiend of hell, and every drop of blood in this war has been shed by and through the accursed institution of slavery.

The war never will cease until slavery is forever destroyed. But why? Because God [illegible] will it. He will not let the war terminate as long as a slave clanks his chains within the bounds of our country.

You cannot fight the enemy with one hand successfully and support him with the other. Did you ever sit down to play a game of checkers with your wife [illegible] I have a boy Jim, as he is called [illegible] I wish to assist in the discipline of his hand, and I occasionally sit down and show him how to make the proper moves. I [illegible] for him and myself also and I [illegible] find that Jim beats me. So with the rebellion. Had we not been sustaining the traitors with one hand while attempting to conquer them with the other, the war would long since have terminated. Thus we have done by upholding slavery. God Almighty will not consent to the close of this war till the cause shall be wiped out."

THE FIRST MARRIAGE.—"And Adam said, This is now bone of my bone and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called woman because she was taken out of man. Therefore shall a man leave father and mother and shall cleave unto his wife. They shall be one flesh." No cards.

THE FOURTH.—Numbers of our [illegible] being unable to participate in the [illegible] demonstration on Saturday, owing [illegible] short time allowed for preparation, it w[illegible] cided to have a grander and more [illegible] display and procession on Monday night, a celebration that all might prepare [illegible] and one more worthy the glorious [illegible] it was designed to commemorate. [illegible] early hour of the day notices were [illegible] calling together the various fire and hook [illegible] ladder companies preparatory to joining [illegible] procession, and our merchants were [illegible] engaged in the construction of every de[illegible] of decoration, mottoes, transparen[illegible] illuminations, &c., indeed, every one se[illegible] determined to contribute towards rende[illegible] this the most notable, as it was the most p[illegible] lar and enthusiastic demonstration ever [illegible] in Portland, and in this they were emin[illegible] successful. The steamer from the Cas[illegible] brought a number of men and a six pou[illegible] gold piece from Vancouver, which contribu[illegible] in no small degree to the eclat of the proc[illegible]ings.

About dark our streets assumed a [illegible] animated appearance. Flags were stream[illegible] in every direction, Chinese lamps swin[illegible] to and fro, the flickering of thousand [illegible] lights, the dazzling illuminations, the m[illegible] toes—many of them very appropriate[illegible] select, and all patriotic—the tasteful tr[illegible] sparencies, the Roman candles, the bonfir[illegible] and the hissing of rockets, with their th[illegible] sands of shooting stars, these, together w[illegible] the ringing of bells, the music, the firing [illegible] artillery, the hum and bustle of the joyo[illegible] busy crowds, formed a perfect Babel of b[illegible] liancy and excitement. Our streets have [illegible] dom contained such joyous, motley and [illegible] thusiastic multitudes. Everybody seeme[illegible] be happy and gay. Some were promenadi[illegible] others viewed the spectacle from the ver[illegible] dahs. Moisty and patriotic groups were [illegible] sembled around the portals of well known a[illegible] popular places of resort, many doughty re[illegible] resentatives of the groups aforesaid indu[illegible] ing in exhilerating libations to an exte[illegible] that conduced greatly to increase the p[illegible] larity and enthusiasm. A short time pre[illegible] ous to the starting of the procession, one [illegible] these moisty patriots collared us, and insist[illegible] that we should then and there "take som[illegible] thing." We begged to be excused, when[illegible] upon the moisty one in a spirit of patriot[illegible] indignation, immediately inaugurated a seri[illegible] of complicated and warlike manœuvres, ten[illegible] ing to the enforcement of his just deman[illegible] Intimidated by this exhibition of superi[illegible] tactics and force, we called for an armistic[illegible] and surrendered unconditionally. The vict[illegible] peremptorily ordered us to follow him. Ha[illegible] ing elbowed our way through a crowd of r[illegible] freshed and refreshing citizens, we we[illegible] shortly afterwards discovered deeply immer[illegible] ed in a scientific analysis of some mysteriou[illegible] compound, which, with great apparent sati[illegible] faction, we were vigorously imbibing throu[illegible] the medium of a straw. Appeased by ou[illegible] humble submission, the moisty one now r[illegible] lented, and released us on parole. Deep[illegible] humiliated by our defeat, we hastily retrea[illegible] ed and being joined by an unknown an[illegible] unsoaped citizen, brought up the rear of t[illegible] procession, jubilant and dusty.

The procession, which formed at the Ha[illegible] of the Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co., w[illegible] headed by the Mechanics band, Union flag[illegible] the American eagle, &c., and was forme[illegible] principally of firemen, most of whom carri[illegible] transparencies—some of them decidedly or[illegible] ginal and grotesque—and appropriate mo[illegible] toes. After parading for some time, the pr[illegible] cession in marching round the public squar[illegible] halted, and gave three rousing cheers for th[illegible] Union, the band playing the "Star Spangle[illegible] Banner," after which they proceeded to th[illegible] Dennison House, and performed several p[illegible] triotic airs. Eloquent addresses were ma[illegible] by Rev. T. H. Pearne, Mr. Holbrook, Jud[illegible] Oliphant, of Washington Territory, Prof. [illegible] H. Hall and Governor Gibbs, and the proce[illegible] sion shortly afterwards broke up, giving thr[illegible] loud cheers for the Union.

Though this is the second demonstratio[illegible] held by our citizens in commemoration of t[illegible] glorious victories achieved by our armies, y[illegible] there seemed to be no abatement in the ge[illegible] eral joy and enthusiasm; indeed, we thi[illegible] that on this occasion they had gathered i[illegible] creased strength, and we shall ever remem[illegible] ber, with feelings of the liveliest gratific[illegible] tion, the patriotic demonstration of yesterda[illegible] and the glorious events that occasioned it.

PERSONAL.—Mr. H. Wyman, so long know[illegible] here as purser and bookkeeper for the Orego[illegible] Steam Navigation Co., leaves to-day on t[illegible] Sierra Nevada, having taken the position [illegible] purser of that vessel. All who have had b[illegible] siness transactions with Mr. Wyman will sa[illegible] with us, that no more polite and amiable ge[illegible] tleman has been engaged in this trade [illegible] purser, and we congratulate the steamsh[illegible] Company on their success in securing his se[illegible] vices.

ARRIVED.—The steamer Wilson G. Hu[illegible] arrived from the Cascades about 4 o'clock la[illegible] evening, bringing about $30 000 in gold dus[illegible] mostly in the hands of passengers. She al[illegible] brought a field piece from Vancouver to assi[illegible] in the celebration.

THE JUBILEE.—Numbers of our citizens being unable to participate in the patriotic demonstration on Saturday, owing to the short time allowed for preparation, it was decided to have a grander and more regular display and procession on Monday night—a celebration that all might prepare to partake in, and one more worthy the glorious occasion it was designed to commemorate. At an early hour of the day notices were issued calling together the various fire and hook and ladder companies, preparatory to joining the procession, and our merchants were busily engaged in the construction of every description of decoration, mottoes, transparencies, illuminations, &c.; indeed, everyone seemed determined to contribute towards rendering this the most notable, as it was the most popular and enthusiastic, demonstration ever seen in Portland; and in this they were eminently successful. The steamer from the Cascades brought a number of men and a six-pounder field piece from Vancouver, which contributed in no small degree to the eclat of the proceedings.

About dark our streets assumed a more animated appearance. Flags were streaming in every direction, Chinese lamps swinging to and fro, the flickering of thousands of lights, the dazzling illuminations, the mottoes—many of them very appropriate and select, and all patriotic—the tasteful transparencies, the Roman candles, the bonfires, and the hissing of rockets, with their thousands of shooting stars; these, together with the ringing of bells, the music, the firing of artillery, the hum and bustle of the joyous, busy crowds, formed a perfect Babel of brilliancy and excitement. Our streets have seldom contained such joyous, motley and enthusiastic multitudes. Everybody seemed to be happy and gay. Some were promenading, others viewed the spectacle from the verandahs. Moisty and patriotic groups were assembled around the portals of well-known and popular places of resort, many doughty representatives of the groups aforesaid indulging in exhilarating libations to an extent that conduced greatly to increase their hilarity and enthusiasm. A short time previous to the starting of the procession, one of these moisty patriots collared us, and insisted that we should then and there "take something." We begged to be excused, whereupon the moisty one, in a spirit of patriotic indignation, immediately inaugurated a series of complicated and warlike manœuvres, tending to the enforcement of his just demand. Intimidated by this exhibition of superior tactics and force, we called for an armistice, and surrendered unconditionally. The victor peremptorily ordered us to follow him. Having elbowed our way through a crowd of refreshed and refreshing citizens, we were shortly afterwards discovered deeply immersed in a scientific analysis of some mysterious compound, which, with great apparent satisfaction, we were vigorously inhaling through the medium of a straw. Appeased by our humble submission, the moisty one now relented, and released us on parole. Deeply humiliated by our defeat, we hastily retreated, and being joined by an unknown and unsoaped citizen, brought up the rear of the procession, jubilant and dusty.

The procession, which formed at the Hall of the Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co., was headed by the Mechanics' band, Union flags, the American eagle, &c., and was formed principally of firemen, most of whom carried transparencies—some of them decidedly original and grotesque—and appropriate mottoes. After parading for some time, the procession in marching round the public square, halted, and gave three rousing cheers for the Union, the band playing the "Star Spangled Banner;" after which they proceeded to the Dennison House, and performed several patriotic airs. Eloquent addresses were made by Rev. T. H. Pearne, Mr. Holbrook, Judge Oliphant, of Washington Territory, Prof. C. H. Hall and Governor Gibbs, and the procession shortly afterwards broke up, giving three loud cheers for the Union.

Though this is the second demonstration held by our citizens in commemoration of the glorious victories achieved by our armies, yet there seemed to be no abatement in the general joy and enthusiasm; indeed, we think that on this occasion they had gathered increased strength; and we shall ever remember, with feelings of the liveliest gratification, the patriotic demonstration of yesterday, and the glorious events that occasioned it.

PERSONAL.—Mr. H. Wyman, so long known here as purser and bookkeeper for the Oregon Steam Navigation Co., leaves to-day on the Sierra Nevada, having taken the position of purser of that vessel. All who have had business transactions with Mr. Wyman will say with us, that no more polite and amiable gentleman has been engaged in this trade as purser, and we congratulate the steamship company on their success in securing his services.

ARRIVED.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt arrived from the Cascades about 4 o'clock last evening, bringing about $30,000 in gold dust, mostly in the hands of passengers. She also brought a field piece from Vancouver to assist in the celebration.

DEPARTURE.—The steamship Sierra Nevada, Captain Connor, will leave for San Francisco, via Victoria, this evening at 8 o'clock. She will convey the passengers and gold brought down by the Wilson G. Hunt.

THE WEATHER.—Sunday last was the hottest day of the season. The thermometer, in the shade, stood at 92°, and in the sun at 123°. Yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, 89° in the shade and 118° in the sun.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS.—We return thanks to Jerry Sullivan, the enterprising newsdealer, San Francisco, for a large package of pictorials and eastern papers, received in advance of the steamer's mails.

Strathman & Co. also have our thanks for a large package of pictorials, &c., received by last evening's mail.

CLOSED.—The Colombian Hotel is closed. Sinnott Bros., the gentlemanly proprietors, have engaged the second floor of the new building, and will open the house immediately upon its completion, about sixty days.

WAR AMONG THE DENTISTS — A GOOD CHANCE TO MAKE $500.—We refer our readers to the card of Dr. Black in this morning's paper. The Dentist who wishes to prove himself perfect in the profession can now go in and win. The card reads as though the Doctor was in earnest, and we believe whatever he says he will do.

THEATRICAL.—Those who failed to attend the performance of the interesting drama of "The Forest Keeper," on the occasion of the benefit of Mrs. Waldron, on Thursday evening last, will have another opportunity of witnessing this popular play, as the manager intends to reproduce it this evening, together with the exciting melodrama entitled "Six Degrees of Crime." All true admirers of the drama will be well pleased with Mr. Waldron's representation of "Julio," in the latter play, as it is one of that excellent artist's most effective characters.

THANKS.—To the gentleman who found our friend's memorandum book our grateful acknowledgments are due for the courtesy with which he so promptly responded to our notice of its loss.

DR. D. JAYNES'

EXPECTORANT

AND SANATIVE PILLS

HAVE BEEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC SO LONG, and found such general favor in every region of country [illegible], been [illegible] and there is no place on the [illegible] globe where they have not been sold, that it would seem almost superfluous at this time to direct attention to them through the medium of the press. Yet it is due to suffering humanity, and especially to that numerous class who in the changeable climate of the Pacific Coast, suffer from including and ending in CONSUMPTION, many of whom may not have used his remedy, that they should be allowed to read of some of the cases where its influence has been useful in remedying complaints from which they are suffering. The EXPECTORANT

Operates immediately upon the Disease,

SURELY AND SPEEDILY ERADICATING IT,

while the SANATIVE PILLS, by preserving regularity in the Bowels, and giving a healthy tone to the other internal organs, aid and assist the perfect operation of the former.

Attention is asked to the following Certificates, selected at random from those now in the possession of the proprietors:

UPPER UWCHLAND, Chester Co., Pa., Sept 15, 1858.

Dr. D. Jayne—I was long afflicted with ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS, and having the advice of some of the most noted physicians, whose skillful treatment of my case [illegible] to be of any avail, I obtained no relief from my suffering until I commenced the use of your EXPECTORANT. After taking it for about three months I was entirely cured.

NATHAN PENNYPACKER.

ASTORIA, Long Island, Jan 15, 1860.

L. W. TINELL, Esq, New York—Sir: As you well know, I had been afflicted with BRONCHITIS, accompanied with the most painful tightness of the chest, and great difficulty in breathing, for nearly two months, and had almost lost all confidence in the power of medical science, when at a friend's suggestion, I began the well known (but not enough known) "EXPECTORANT" of Dr. Jayne, of Philadelphia. Three or four days after having commenced to use it, my cough nearly subsided, the expectoration [illegible], and the breathing quite free. I am now quite another man, and my general health has never been better.

I remain, my dear Tinell, with esteem, your servant and friend,

J. B. MONTE.

WINFIELD, Tuscarawas Co., O., May 31, 1860.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: One bottle of your Expectorant cured my daughter of the LUNG FEVER, after having been beyond the hopes of recovery. During the attack she had a number of convulsions. She is now perfectly well.

J. H. COFFMAN.

BURLINGTON, Bradford Co., Pa., July 23, 1863.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: My son was for one and a half years afflicted with a disease resembling CONSUMPTION. [illegible] he was not able to labor. He was finally induced to try your EXPECTORANT and PILLS, and after [illegible] some PILLS, was completely cured, and is now able to labor every day.

JOHN HENRY.

We would add to the above that we sold to Mr Henry the medicine for his son, and know that the statement is true.

MERRY, WILLIGAM & CO.

For a greater number and variety of certificates, and fuller information regarding these and other of Dr D Jayne's Family Preparations, reference is given to the ANNUAL ALMANAC, which may be had from any Druggist or Dealer in Medicines.

The Garnet Ring

(Concluded.)

There was a titter through the court room. I glanced at Miles. He was smiling and flushing, but showed no shame or embarrassment. It was plain he thought it no unmanly thing to give a ring to the girl he loved best, and he was not unwilling to have it known that the pretty [illegible] looking Selina White was that girl, though she was now in the prisoner's dock on trial as a boarding house thief.

'Now,' said the Judge, turning to the Clerk, 'I think we'll look at those stolen clothes again.' They were produced, and on being examined there was found fastened to some bead trimming which ornamented the dress a bit of brown plush, the same in shade and fabric with that the clerk had secured. In the meantime an officer had returned from Mary Murray's lodgings (where he had gone at my suggestion) with a brown plush cap which she had lately finished, and, on comparison, it was found that its material was the same with the shreds before the Court.

The testimony was now all in and I arose to make the defence. I went over the evidence and showed that there was nothing against the prisoner but the one fact of possession—always a strong one, I admitted, but in this case outweighed by the apparent innocence and guilt of the girl Murray, who had not only hated and plotted to ruin her but had stolen from her herself. In proof of this I alluded to her jealousy, her threats and too good readiness in throwing suspicion upon Selina. I dwelt on the circumstance that a bit of plush which appeared to be a cutting from Mary Murray's work was found upon the stolen dress, although it had been packed away for a long time previous to being found in the prisoner's possession. It had not been shown that Selina White ever had any plush, or had ever been in Mary Murray's room to obtain it.

'Then how,' I asked, 'did this detective shred find an opportunity to fasten itself upon a dress in sudden transit from its owner's trunk to a stranger's traveling bag? Perhaps,' I suggested, 'Miss Murray might tell us. She had a similar shred attached to her shawl; and is it not possible, nay probable that she could tell how and where its fellow became attached to the trimming of the stolen dress? Might it not have been caught in a temporary lodgment in her room or by contact with her own clothes? How else? In view of all these circumstances proved, it was easier to believe that Mary Murray had stolen the clothes, and in order to ruin her and get her out of the way, then put them in Selina White's carpet bag, than that Selina had stolen them.'

I then touched upon the garnet ring, showing that it had undoubtedly belonged to the prisoner, and had been taken from her carpet-bag when the stolen goods had been deposited there, and ended with a few words of appeal to the conscience and sympathy of the Judge, intended to produce its effect on the spectators rather than the person addressed. The Judge whispered a moment with one of the officers near him, then pronounced Selina White innocent of the charges preferred against her. There was a loud burst of applause. I took Selina's little cold hand in mine, and told her she had better leave with me at once. We had just reached the door when Miles Allen joined us, shaking hands and laughing, and talking so fast that one could scarcely understand him. I learned this however, that he and Selina loved each other too well to be far separated; that Selina had come to get work near Miles at his suggestion; that owing to a series of blunders, not so easily explained as frequently met with, she had failed to find him on her arrival, but that, certain of meeting him soon, she had spent her time in looking for employment, till she was arrested and lodged in jail. Miles declared himself to have been surprised beyond expression, so much even as to have been suspicious of his mental state, when on going to the court-room to make complaint of some wrong done to himself, he saw the very girl he loved the best in the dock on trial.

But the lovers were happy now. And so was I, notwithstanding my old overcoat. I don't know whether or not Miles Allen noticed that I was thinly clad, and that, spite of a strong effort of will, I showed great sensitiveness to the cold on reaching the outer air, but this I know, the warm hearted fellow gave into my hand (I don't say paid, for of course I never charged him or Selina anything)—he gave me the price of one of the very best overcoats I ever wore within a week of the time when I first met him in the police court-room.

There may be some who are desirous to know whatever more I can tell about the garnet ring. I will, therefore, add that soon after the trial I have described, the morning papers reported Mary Murray to have been convicted of stealing a ring and fined twenty dollars, failing to pay which she was sent to jail.

And this further. No longer ago than last summer I met Miles Allen on a pleasant Sunday afternoon, leading a fine boy, who looked the very image of Selina White as when I first saw her. Leaning on Miles' right arm was Selina herself, and, what was curious, on her little left hand which clung to the strong, muscular arm was the identical garnet ring that had proved her innocence. Perhaps she was proud of it, and desirous of having it seen and admired; perhaps it was so large it might have torn or misshaped her glove. At any rate whatever her reason for so doing may have been she wore it in plain sight and I knew it as well as Miles Allen swore he did long years before.

WHY OUR GREAT MEN ARE NOT IN PUBLIC LIFE.—We never had greater men in science, in learning, in art. We never had greater lawyers, or greater merchants, or greater engineers. Evidently therefore the problem to be solved is not, why men of large capacity have failed us, but why such men are so apt to turn aside from politics and devote themselves to other pursuits. It is because the new doctrines and new practices have had the effect to make an enlightened and experienced statesmanship a disqualification for the highest offices in the national government. Not the fittest, but the most available candidate is sought for; one who will revive no old grudges, awaken no old [illegible] new man, and above all a man who is not a power in himself. [illegible] candidates [illegible] for the place are [illegible] and what is worse a policy is inaugurated which makes it certain that such candidates will be left.—Hence the answer to the [illegible] question by which it is thought to silence a candidate against [illegible] "Who [illegible] men and great men?" [illegible] why wonder that you cannot find great statesmen [illegible] who have been educated and trained for public life, men who have already won the public confidence, and whose names are in everybody's mouth—why wonder that this is impossible when you have been pursuing a course for years which has made it impossible.—Dr. Walker.

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable,) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor Whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters, which, instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair

Hoofland's German Bitters!

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years' trial by the American public, and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN,
LAWYERS,
PHYSICIANS
CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?
If so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefit he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused and will continue to cause as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt. Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medical virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS,

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters."

PHILADELPHIA, August 23, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Capt. R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances, and, accordingly, the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours,

ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to life.
